Product Training

How we will train you to succeed in business

In order to exceed your customers needs in a highly qualified and professional manner, PETRONAS Lubricants will provide you with both advanced products and advanced technical and commercial online training. This will keep you up-to-date and prepared on the technological evolution of engines, equipment and new generation lubricants.

Technical Training Lead Academy

Useful training for your every day work!

PETRONAS advanced technical courses explore various aspects of the world of lubricant and lubrication. From the characteristics of lubricant and additives to performance specifications. From the analysis of lubricants used to understand how the state of the oil can influence the life of the components to new technologies for improving products.

To this end, PETRONAS long committed to R&D into new solutions illustrates the characteristics and benefits of the most recent laboratory technologies CoolTech™ and ViscGuard™, adopted for the symptom and your trainer lubricants.

At the end of the training session a Participation Certificate is issued.

PETRONAS Lubricants commercial consultancy helps you in your choice and management of the products according to specific requirements and in promoting your work in the market.
